

"We designed walls of white-oak paneling built by our favorite woodworker, Atlanta-based Skylar Morgan, to give the room a clubby feel. Mirrors by Séura, available through Paul + showroom at ADAC, double as TVs so guests can keep up with all the games as they relax within the restaurant."

"Murals by Seattle-based artist Maeve Harris evoke a watery dreaminess as they float along the upper walls of the Club Room and Main Dining Room. They energize and tie together these two more public spaces and play along with the color story happening throughout the restaurant."

"Custom steel barstools by Subeau, located in East Point, have generous seats made of a beautiful cognac-colored Moore & Giles leather to comfortably accommodate Braves fans coming in any time for drinks and a great pre- or postgame dining experience."

1 design moment

C. Ellet's isn't your traditional steakhouse—so Square Feet Studio (squarefeetstudio.com) designed it as such. Principal designer Vivian Bencich weighs in on the swanky details.

4 great Wunges

PUNCH BOWL SOCIAL

Rounding out the options at The Battery Atlanta is Punch Bowl Social, where Hugh Acheson serves as the consulting chef. The drink menu is broken down into Old School, New School, Adult Milkshakes and, naturally, Punch. Try the Watermelon Polo Bowl with tequila, watermelon tea, watermelon shrub, homemade strawberry syrup and lime juice. We recommend the boozeless craft beverages as well—over 20 options from which to choose, including a spiced cranberry soda, strawberry rhubarb fizz and a classic egg cream.

OVERDRIVE LOUNGE

Overlooking one of Delta Air Lines' prime runways is Solis Two Porsche Drive's Overdrive Lounge. There's truly no better place this side of the perimeter to unwind with a cocktail in hand and let the world literally pass you by. Try the Georgia Mule, a play on a Moscow Mule, made with Old Fourth Distillery vodka and Lawn Dart ginger lemon liqueur, or the Pecan Dandy, it's on theme, with muddled fresh peach slices, rum, amaro, lemon juice and pecan orgeat. Both pair well with the Mediterranean-inspired food menu. 2 Porsche Drive, 470.466.3300, solis2porschedrive.com

PAPER CRANE LOUNGE

Upstairs at Staplehouse is Paper Crane Lounge, intimate, casual, low-lit and heavy on the serious cocktails. It's walk-ins only and is only open partially during the week, during normal Staplehouse business hours—with an abbreviated a la carte menu from downstairs. Any wait is worth it for the rotating, inventive drinks with elusive names like the Disco Nap (an energizing and tart concoction) and the Runaround Suze (think floral and bright). The idea is to trust your bartender—and there's not a misstep to be found. 541 Edgewood Ave. SE, 404.524.5005, staplehouse.com

GOLDEN EAGLE

From the owners of Ladybird Grove and Mess Hall comes this year's buzziest watering hole. Golden Eagle. The retro environs, food and beverage are the perfect juxtaposition for the thoroughly modern crowd. Think amaretto sours, Blue Hawaiians and crab Rangoon served to tech titans and creative masterminds. This Reynoldstown resto is worthy of a night on the town. 904 Memorial Drive, 404.963.1703, goldeneagleatl.com
