INFORMATION

Why participate in ZeroLandfill?

In the design and construction industry, we find ourselves creating a lot of waste from expired or unused materials collected in our finish libraries that inevitably make their way to the landfill. So we asked why not re-purpose or up-cycle these materials back into our community? Once unwanted materials could then be used as free source materials for educators and non-profit associations, or transformed into works of art by artists and crafters.

For a seventh year, IIDA Georgia has partnered with Wilsonart to bring the ZeroLandfill event to Atlanta. To date, we have helped up cycle thousands of pounds of FREE architectural samples which have been transformed by teachers, artists, hobbyists and crafters into constructive and creative projects.

This year the event will span over two weekends, August 16/17th and August 23/24th. Products are dropped off on both Fridays at Certified Finishes and are FREE to be picked up by teachers on both Saturdays from 8 AM - 12 PM.

In 2018, Zerolandfill Atlanta diverted 65,622 pounds of architectural samples from local landfills. Help us beat last years total by donating your architectural samples for teachers, artists, and other community groups to up-cycle in new and creative ways!
